

Finding Images of Your Artist(s) Works

The best source of images of artist's works are exhibition catalogs. See the section: How to Find Artist's Exhibition Catalogs and Books.

ARTstor is a digital library of over 700,000 images in the areas of art and architecture from Neolithic to Postmodern times. Special collections include: European paintings, sculpture and decorative arts; prints, graphic design, photography, drawings, archaeology, Asian art, illuminated manuscripts, cave temple works, Egyptian art, Cuban art, antiquities, Korean and Buddhist monastery art and architecture, Islamic art and architecture, Medieval and Renaissance art, and prints from the Illustrated Bartsch.

ARTstor is listed under "A" in the A-Z listing of databases on the "Electronic Resources" page: <http://irservices.library.unt.edu/>

*If accessing from off-campus, you will be asked for a user name (EUID), and password (Eagle Mail password).

Search example: Bleckner, Ross; Warhol, Andy; Sherman, Cindy

Google

Go to Google.com. Choose the "Image" link. Enter the name of your artist in the search box. Search names in Google in quotes in a natural language sequence (first, last name).

Example: "Bill Viola".

Researching an Artistic Genealogy

*First find exhibition catalogs, books and journal articles on the artist(s) whom you know have something in common with your work. Then work as a detective searching all of the keywords found in those sources concerning your artist. Some keywords you might search for are: the name of your artist, the name of your artist's teacher, the name of the art movement that is associated with their work, other artists, art works, philosophies or religions they mention as influencing their work.

How to Find Artist's Exhibition Catalogs and Books

1. Go to the UNT Libraries home page:
<http://www.library.unt.edu>
2. Choose "UNT Library Catalog".
3. Enter the artist's name in the keyword search box.

Name Search Example: Viola, Bill (last, first)

Exhibition Catalog Example: Viola, Bill AND Exhibition

Topic examples: Smith, Kiki AND Criticism; Postmodernism AND Art; Abstraction and Painting, Bleckner, Ross AND Biography.
